

Definite Article - the

Read the following short story and insert the definite article where you think it should be. There are more than 10 needed:

African Elephant

African elephant is largest proboscidean. Of course, there are only two species of proboscideans — other species being Asian elephant—so being bigger of two species may not sound like much of an achievement. But not only are African elephants largest proboscidean, they are also largest land animal. Asian elephants are second largest land animal, followed by white rhinoceros and hippopotamus.

