- a. Look at the following text. Read it to yourself. When you feel happy that you know how to say the words, read it aloud:

“If you follow eSports at all, you probably know the name League of Legends (LoL). This incredibly popular Multiplayer Online Battle Arena (MOBA) game, which came out in 2019, is one of the most played eSports every year. Professional teams exist across the world, playing in tournaments with multi-million dollar prizes at stake. Thanks to LoL, eSports is closer to being on the level of regular sporting events than ever before. The game has an average of 80 million monthly players, with 27 million of those people playing daily. That’s a seriously dedicated fan-base.

Over 10 years after its launch, LoL, remains one of the most played games. LoL was inspired by a popular mod for the game Warcraft III called Defense of the Ancients (Dota). Dota essentially invented the MOBA genre, and it has inspired many imitators—LoL included. Its standalone sequel, Dota 2, remains an incredibly popular MOBA and is the number one eSport in the world, considering prize pools.”
