

Imperatives – Make me a cup of coffee!

Using imperatives, write down all the steps you need to take to make a cup of coffee. You choose, it can be a simple cup of instant coffee or something more sophisticated like a cappuccino or an espresso. Your choice!

Remember that you need to have short, direct instructions. So, for example, if we are using an imperative we wouldn't say, "First, you need to fill up the kettle." We'd just say, "First, fill up the kettle." Continue your instructions with then...next...after...that...etc., ending with finally.

First, ...

Finally, ...
