

She / her

They are both pronouns.

She = subject form of a personal pronoun

Her = object form. Can also be a possessive adjective depending on how you are using it. These words change the noun following it in order to show possession.

So, we'd say:

She is very pretty. (= personal pronoun)

They visited her when they went to NY. (=object pronoun)

Her hair is very pretty. (= possessive adjective)

Exercises. Now you try:

1. What is name?
2. Does want to come to the party with us?
3. is very beautiful. hair is so lovely.
4. Rosy is an interesting person. knows so much.
5. Rosy studied astrophysics. university is the best in the country.
6. This is my brother. is a nurse.
7. has got a car. It's car.
8. This is my cousin Sally,is super fun. I went to Paris to see
9. I have a dog called Molly. is so cute.
10. My sister works in a hospital. is a doctor.
11. Who is that woman? I don't know name.
12. Rosy loves bananas. eats them every day.
13. Our teacher is great. We all like
14. works with me and my brother.